Among the many charming accomplishments in which the ladies of the nineteenth Among the many charming accomplishments in which the ladies of the nineteenth century find not only amusement, but in some instances even renumeration. The art of converting a very ordinary white china plate or tea cup into a highly embelished hand-painted ornament is a valuble accomplishment. Mrs. A. C. Botkin for her own amusement and greatly to the gratification of her numerous friends has become an adept in the art and some of her late work is equal to anything which Tiffany & Co., of New York, ever turned out and for it it is unnecessary to they charge fabulous prices.

On Thursday evening at the close of the regular business of the Daughters of Rebekah lodge, Mr. and Mrs. Homer L. Jennison, assisted by the Noble Grand, Mrs. Dr. Wait, surprised the officers and members with an unexpected feast of ice cream and cake. The little affair was arranged so quietly that not the faintest suspicion of the treat in store dawned upon the lotes.

The Misses Allen accompanied Mr. Oldham's excellent violin solo, the "Carnival de Venice," on the guitars, and Miss Glenton, connected with the Episcopal hospital here, astonished her friends and admirers by some admirable dialect recitations, giving in the first place "Selling a Hen," and in response to a tremendous encore reciting the experience of an Irish girl inquiring after her lover's spirit through a "may-dium," and on being called out again giving "The Training of a Haythen Chinee."

The entertainment concluded with the "Blind Beggars," capitally portrayed by Bernard Kelley and H. B. Kane. Mrs. Sam Foster very kindly lent her sweettoned plano for the occasion, and the entire party were most hospitably entertained by the church members.

The Equitable Life.

Indicator, Detroit, Mich.: Probably if any one had predicted, when the Equitable Life Assurance society commenced business less than thirty years ago, that the time would ever come when it would write one hundred and fifty millions of new business in a single year, he would have been considered a lunatic. If any man did make such a prediction more than realized, for the company wrote the enormous sum of $153,923,535 in 1888, surpassing all other companies. The energy and push which the Equitable has shown in its reaching after business have excited much comment on both sides of the water, and great things are expected to result, but such figures as the above are simply as-

Hill, Miss Stella Knight, Miss Barbour, Mrs. Knight and others, while J. Lansing and some other of Mr. Reed's friends from the mining camp are already on the spot. Mr. Reed makes an excellent host, and a good time for all those fortunate enough to be present is assured.

WEDDINGS AND PARTIES.

W. S. Thompson, of Helena, was united to Miss Ella M. Crosby, of Richmond, Ky. on Thursday, at the Methodist Episcopal W. S. Thompson, of Helena, was united to Miss Ella M. Crosby, of Richmond, Ky., on Thursday, at the Methodist Episcopal church parsonage by the Rev. W. M. Britt. The ceremony was witnessed by a few members of the family and some intimate friends, and the happy couple left on an extended honeymoon, after receiving the congratulations of all present.

Another wedding took place on Saturday last which will be a source of pleasure to the numerous friends of Robert Russell, late of Helena, but now residing at Alhambra Springs, Jefferson county. Mr. Russell was q lietly married to Miss Martha Hunter, daughter of the late John Livingston, of Edinburgh, Scotland. Mr. Russell's mother brought the happy bride over to her future husband. After a short wedding trip they propose to settle down together and make Alhambra Springs their home.

Fishing parties are all the rage at present and some good hauls have been already made, although the water is too high and hardiy clear enough to get very good sport without going some distance from Helena. Joe Davis, Will Humbert, H. H. Davis and Mr. Kleinschmidtt have, however, been among the most successful sportsmen.

The popularity of Judge Bach was pretty well exemplified by the numerous telegrams of congratulation and presents which poured in from all parts of the country from his various legal contemporaries and clients on the eve of his wedding day. If a man wants to ascertain how he stands in the community he need only announce his engagement or run for the presidential chair—both extremely serious obligations.
